

Google drive on Linux

It's strange, but true: Google doesn't provide an easy tool for Linux to integrate Google Drive. Even stranger considering Google uses Linux a lot for servers, as basis for Android, etc. So, the closest thing is probably to install a launcher for the Google Drive app inside Google Chrome, to easily get to the web interface and manipulate your files there.

From:
<https://helpdesk.lorentz.leidenuniv.nl/wiki/> - Computer Documentation Wiki

Permanent link:
https://helpdesk.lorentz.leidenuniv.nl/wiki/doku.php?id=linux:google_drive&rev=1475750124

Last update: 2016/10/06 10:35

